The 2022-2025 RCRC Strategic Plan reflects a shared focus for our organization and is a foundational document that will guide the priorities and direction of RCRC for the next three years. Over the course of 2021, the RCRC Board of Directors took great care in identifying where our organization should focus efforts and resources to best address the needs and interests of our thirty-eight member counties. Accordingly, the Strategic Plan targets some of the greatest challenges facing our communities — from broadband access to forest resiliency and wildfire prevention. I am proud of the work of my fellow Board colleagues and RCRC staff in developing the Strategic Plan and look forward to assisting in its implementation for the benefit of our rural communities.

STRATEGIC DIRECTION

FORGING A PATH FOR RURAL COUNTIES

With the development of the 2022-2025 RCRC Strategic Plan, our members have established a unified approach for the years ahead. As we embark on implementation, I am grateful for the leadership of my Board colleague, Supervisor Corless, in driving the formation of the plan and establishing a firm path forward for RCRC. With coordinated and sustained effort, our Board will begin advancement of the Strategic Plan during the 2022 calendar year with the overall aim of enhancing and protecting the quality of life in our rural counties.

ABOUT US

38 COUNTIES STRONG

The Rural County Representatives of California (RCRC) is a thirty-eight member county service organization that champions policies on behalf of California's rural counties. Founded in 1972, RCRC works with its membership to advocate on behalf of rural issues at the state and federal levels.

RCRC provides the rural county perspective on a myriad of issues during the legislative and regulatory process, including land use, water and natural resources, housing, transportation, wildfire protection policies, and health and human services. The purpose of RCRC's work is to improve the ability of small, rural California county government to provide services by reducing the burden of state and federal mandates, and promoting a greater understanding among policymakers about the unique challenges that face California's small-population counties.

Peggy Sells, Tuolumne County

RCRC AFFILIATED ENTITIES:

Over the years, RCRC has also expanded its role as an innovative service provider through the establishment of several affiliated entities. Through these entities RCRC develops and implements services to address important challenges facing communities across California including attaining homeownership, implementing environmental and regulatory requirements, and accessing reliable and affordable high speed broadband.

OUR VISION AND MISSION

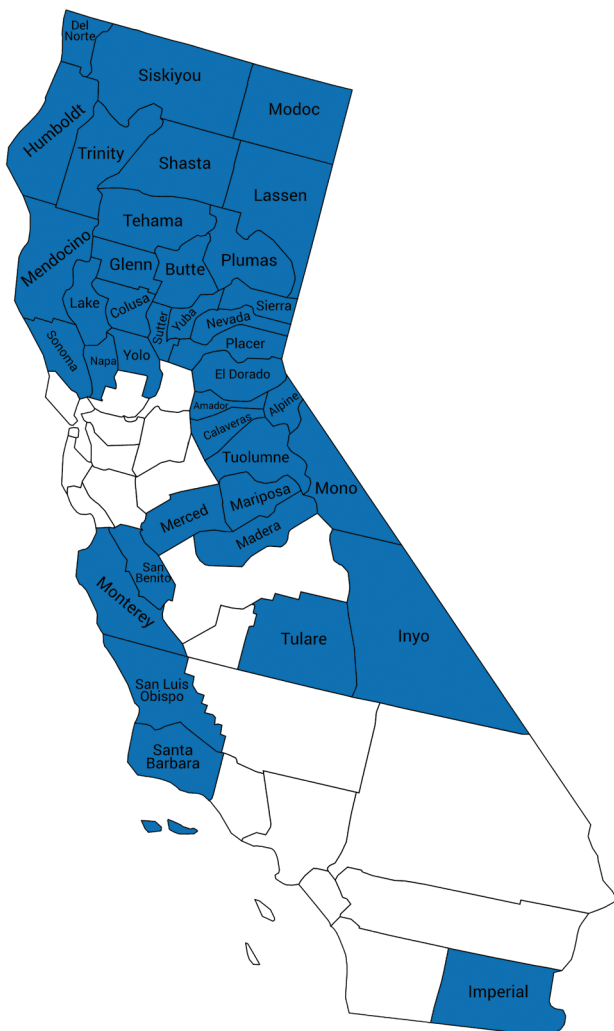

VISION:

RCRC is the premier advocate and innovative service provider for rural counties in California.

MISSION:

RCRC is dedicated to representing the collective unique interests of its membership, providing legislative and regulatory representation at the state and federal levels, and providing responsible services to its members which will enhance and protect the quality of life in rural California counties.

WHO WE REPRESENT....

13% of California's population

Over 60% of California's Landmass

Over 80% of US Forest Service Land Resides Within Our Member Counties

Nearly 75% of California's Water Originates in the Northern Third of the State

STRATEGIC PLAN

DEVELOPMENT

Establishing a Strategic Direction

During 2021, RCRC embarked on a process for developing the 2022-2025 Strategic Plan. Engaging with RCRC representatives and rural county stakeholders, the RCRC Board of Directors identified key areas of interest to rural counties and formulated a plan for prioritizing and tackling these challenges as an organization. The plan is to serve as a guiding document from which the RCRC Board of Directors will set policies and priorities.

3 PHASE PROCESS

Engagement

RCRC conducted an extensive engagement effort gathering input on areas of interest for the RCRC Board to consider including in the strategic plan. The engagement effort included in-person or virtual meetings with the RCRC Executive Committee, Board of Directors, past Chairs, all staff, individual member counties, legislative staff, and the small and rural county representatives of partner entities. RCRC also refined and affirmed the mission and vision for the organization.

Plan Development

Information gathered during the engagement efforts guided the formation of the strategic plan. RCRC reviewed the input received on key interests and prioritized strategies in alignment with the mission and vision of the organization.

Approval Phase

The RCRC Board of Directors reviewed and refined the draft plan, ensuring the inclusion and prioritization of key areas of interest, before finalizing and approving the 2022-2025 Strategic Plan in December 2021.

KEY AREAS OF INTEREST FOR RURAL COUNTIES

✓ Wildfire Prevention and Forest Resiliency

With catastrophic wildfire increasing in size and intensity annually, rural counties saw wildfire prevention and forest resiliency as a top priority for the protection and preservation of rural communities. To aid in the success of these efforts, representatives emphasized a need to continue enhancing partnerships with land management agencies.

✓ Drought and Water Resiliency

Long periods of drought are having significant impact on rural communities, threatening water supply to the general public and to agricultural operations. Many counties expressed the need to mitigate drought impacts on their communities while also preparing for the onset of potential floods, particularly in areas recently burned by wildfires.

✓ Broadband

The State of California established a landmark $6 billion investment in broadband infrastructure in 2021, representing a significant step in bridging the digital divide. Access to broadband remains uneven across the state, especially in rural counties where 51.3% of households have no access to high-speed broadband. Seizing the opportunities provided for in the recent State investment is of high importance for establishing equitable access to broadband in rural counties.

✓ Housing and Health Services

Rural communities face unique challenges in housing and health services due to their size and topographic location. Stakeholders pointed to limited staffing and resources as large barriers to housing development projects and the provision of important health services. Some rural counties are faced with limited providers for substance abuse and behavioral health treatment resources for residents in need.

✓ Rural County Voice

Legislation at the state and federal level can have substantially different impacts in rural communities than in urban areas due to greater distances, lower population densities, and geographic diversity. Rural county representatives reaffirmed the need to promote a greater understanding among policy makers about the unique challenges that face California's small-population counties.

IMPLEMENTATION

IN ACTION

The RCRC Board of Directors approved the 2022-2025 RCRC Strategic Plan for implementation beginning January 2022. Over the next three years, RCRC staff will work with the Board, our rural counties, policymakers and stakeholders in advancement of the strategic plan. Viewed as a living document, the plan will continuously be reviewed and monitored to ensure it remains a valuable resource for the organization.

Tracking Progress

To ensure active implementation of the strategic plan, each objective has an assigned on staff subject matter expert to serve as the lead and driving force for implementation. The leads work with the RCRC Communications Director to monitor progress on a quarterly basis.

Communication

It is the intention of RCRC that the strategic plan be communicated with our members and partners. In doing so, RCRC hopes to increase awareness and understanding of its vision and to garner support in its advancement.

Information regarding the strategic plan is available on RCRC's website and by contacting the RCRC Communications Director.

Reporting and Evaluations

The strategic plan is a flexible document. For that reason, plan progress will be reviewed annually with the Board of Directors at the beginning of each calendar year with the potential to make alterations at that time. Periodic check-ins on specific strategies will also occur with the Board throughout the year.

Data for the strategic plan metrics will be gathered regularly throughout the course of the three-year plan and shared with the Board as part of the annual review process.
