Who We Are

RAI is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit public benefit corporation established and operated by rural local government elected representatives. The purpose of RAI is to strengthen applied research regarding regional rural problems and to educate the public and government officials as to the nature of collective problems and proposed alternative solutions for the benefit of rural communities.

Research

RAI sponsors the development of high quality, data-driven research regarding the impacts of federal and state policymaking on rural communities, with particular emphasis on factors that distinguish rural from urban communities.

Education

RAI facilitates educational tours to policymakers from urban areas in order to familiarize decision-makers with the issues and concerns of rural counties.

Collaboration

RAI partners with organizations to expand outreach opportunities and leverage resources for the collective benefit of rural communities. Policy priority areas are reviewed annually which allow different organizations across industries to collaborate with RAI.
